traces the history of black men in america using a tough guy image to obscure their anger and disappointment over their roles in society back to their origins in africa and the slave era the before columbus foundation 2018 winner of the american book award tommy j curry s provocative book the man not is a justification for black male studies he posits that we should conceptualize the black male as a victim oppressed by his sex the man not therefore is a corrective of sorts offering a concept of black males that could challenge the existing accounts of black men and boys desiring the power of white men who oppress them that has been proliferated throughout academic research across disciplines curry argues that black men struggle with death and suicide as well as abuse and rape and their genred existence deserves study and theorization this book offers intellectual historical sociological and psychological evidence that the analysis of patriarchy offered by mainstream feminism including black feminism does not yet fully understand the role that homoeroticism sexual violence and vulnerability play in the deaths and lives of black males curry challenges how we think of and perceive the conditions that actually affect all black males this unique contribution to the literature represents an important adjunct in developing comprehensive policies that will meet the health care needs of underserved communities in american society the book is readable and contains useful documentation recommended as an important reference for all academic audiences interested in the politics and delivery of health care choice editors woodrow jones jr and mitchell f rice present a thorough analysis of the problems of health and health care particular to black americans the contributors to this work analyze the factor of race as it influences the availability accessibility and quality of health care they focus on barriers to health care encountered by blacks and attempt to differentiate the problems of the black community from those of other disadvantaged groups using epidemiological data the initial chapters evaluate the general health of the black population in subsequent chapters the contributors examine particular problems of groups within the black community problems which are based both on behavior and environment the work concludes by assessing the adequacy of governmental response to the problems identified this volume is designed to illuminate the educational experiences of black women from the time they earn their high school diplomas through graduate study with a particular focus on their doctoral studies by exploring the commonalities and the uniqueness of their individual paths and challenges the chapters of this volume newly identify key factors and experiences that shape black women s engagement or disengagement with higher education the original research presented here using an array of theoretical lenses as well as qualitative and quantitative methods not only deepens our understanding of the experiences of african american women in the academy but also seeks to strengthen the academic pipeline not only for the benefit of those who may have felt disenfranchised in the past but for all students the contributors eschew the deficit focused approach that implies a lack of social and cultural capital based on prior educational experiences adopted by many studies of non dominant groups in education and instead focus on the strengths and experiences of their subjects among their findings is the identification of the social capital that black women are given and actively acquire in their pre collegiate years that enable them to gain greater returns on their educational investments than their male peers the book further describes the assistance and the interference african american women receive from their peers during their transition to college and how peer interactions shape their early college experiences and influence subsequent persistence decisions whether studying how black women in the social and natural sciences navigate through this often rocky terrain or uncovering the extent to which african american women doctoral students access postsecondary education through community colleges and their special needs for more mentoring and advising support this book provides researchers and graduate students with rich information on how to successfully engage and succeed in the doctoral process it also demonstrates to women faculty and administrators how they can become better navigators guides and advocates for the african american women who come after them
